W. F. McCLARY.

THE silver debate closed in the House Saturday, after such big guns as Bourke Cochran, W. L. Wilson and Czar Reed had unlimbered their batteries and let loose their dogs of war. All were for the repeal of the Sherman law, but Mr. Reed could not rise above the plane of party and partisanship and his speech was more of plea for republican principles than an effort for the public good. He charged, of course, that the present financial distress was dre more to the uncertainty of the future in regard to tariff was a candidate for the presidency last play for a grand victory in December. year. He has not only not forgiven Mr. Cleveland for snowing him under so far out of sight, but his bitterness seems to by power and uncorrupted by Federal patronage." He did not hastly join with him in the rosy conclusion that moment the Sherman law is removed. There were some who had given the subject attention who believe the cause of beyond the Sherman bill, and that its ical crime in which they took part. foundations were laid in the evil hours of 1873, when the country unwillingly laid aside the financial policy that had been its guide since the foundation of allist and was for a ratio 151 to 1, if there was to be a change. The speech was full of buncombe and looked more like a show. bid for votes in 1896 than an argument for legislation to cure the financial malady. THE chairman of the district committee, Mr. R. R. Gentry, has notified the members to meet in Danville, Sept. 2 to take steps to nominate a democratic candidate for the State Senate. The editor of this paper has been urged to become a candidate, but as it is his business to help other people get office and having no desire to taste of the flesh pots himself, of course he declines with thanks.

He Got There.

The diffident young man had wanted to propose to the girl, but for the life of him he did not know how to get about it. He read books on the subject and sought information from men who had experience, and while the theories were admirable in every instance, he found that the practice thereof was a different thing. He was walking with her one evening, thinking over these things, when her shoe became untied. She stuck out her pretty little boot with a smile, looked down at it, and he fell on his knees and tied the lace.

Then he walked on with her, and the shoe became untied again. Shoes do that with great persistency, it seems, especially these summer shoes. The third time it happened he was ready, as before. "See if you can't tie a knot that will stick," she said as he worked away at it. He looked up at her tenderly.

"If I can't, I know a man who can," he said.

"Do you want him to tie it?" she asked coquettishly. "Yes," he replied.

She jerked her foot away. He smiled to himself.

"It's the parson," he said, and he rose troit Free Press.

Mistaken.

The Viscountess Sherbrooke, wife of Robert Lowe, the well known English statesman, was a woman of strong character, and she challenged criticism in that she was in the habit of saying whatever come into her mind at the moment.

She had sense and courage, a heart and a head, and she bore a large part in her husband's public life. One repartee ascribed to her shows that she was at least ready with loyalty of speech. The French embassador one day said to her somewhat patronizingly: "You know England is said to be a land of shopkeepers. I had no idea of finding there such great military displays. "Ah," she replied, "the people of different countries do not understand each other. Now, I have actually been under the impression that the French were a panion.

FISH-HATCHING HENS.

A Strange Use Made of Biddy by the

A society for the prevention of cruelty to hens in particular may be the next in the long list of societies designed for the amelioration of animal life. The hen is a cheery, good-natured creature if left to her own inclinations, but if any spark of reason exists in that small cavity allotted for her brains she must wonder why she is so seldom allowed to follow her natural instincts. She is shut up when she would run free, stoned and driven violently away from choice pasture lands, ignominiously tied to a tree or soused in cold water when she longs to sit on a nest full of pretty eggs, and in order to get herself in good condition for Christmas or Thanksgiving she must run hither and thither from morning till night to get her small mouthfuls. Some other hen is usually after the fat worm or other tid-bit which she has espied, and if she is the victor she must swallow her morsel in dyspeptic haste else it will be snatched from her at the last moment. The latest indignity practiced on this amiable bird is found in China, where the spawn of fish is delicately placed inside of an eggshell from which the contents have been blown, and while the mother fish is darting off through cool waters in search of a good time, and while the eggs which she longs to brood over have been taken away, the insulted biddy is forced to sit on the fish eggs until they are ready to be placed in warm water, where they hatch at once. Then the fish stepmother is allowed to cluck her sweet and patient way back to her family until her services are again required.

A QUEER CEREMONY.

to his feet and finished the work .- De- Announcing the Butchery of an Ox in Rural France.

The crier or tambourineur, as he is generally called, because he carries a drum, is one of the institutions of rural France. A traveler in the valley of the Cele says, in "Wanderings by Southern Waters," that he found the tambourineur making the rounds of a town, lustily beating his drum to awaken the curiosity of the inhabitants and accompanied by an ox, which he introduced to the public as "le bœuf ici present."

The crier's business is to announce to all whom it may concern that the animal is to be killed this very evening and that to-morrow morning its flesh will be sold at one franc twentyfive centimes the kilo. It will all go at a uniform price, for this is the custom. Those who want the aloyau or sirloin will only have to be in haste.

The ox, notwithstanding the fact that he has a rope tied round his nose great military nation!"-Youth's Com- and horns and is led by the butcher, evidently thinks it a great distinction to be tambourine; his expression indicates that this is the proudest day of

Every time the drum begins to rattle little ceremony is over he moves to a Agent (a smart man)-It was built fresh place with a jaunty air, as if he that way on purpose, mum to keep were aware that all this drumming peace in the family. A Million Friends.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. If you have rever used that great Cough Medicine. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. If you have never used this great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at A. R. Penny's drug store. Large bottles 50c and $1.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. A. R. Penny, druggist.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been active engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past 35 years. On the seth of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea sold Chamberlain's Coile, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past 17 years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhoea. Every one should procure a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. For sale by W. B. Mckoberts, Druggist, Stanford.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castorie. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of Mc-Keesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhæa in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Johnstown, Pa,, after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhæa very badly. I got seme of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhæa Remedy from Rev, Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I know of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by W. B. McRoberts, Stanford, Kv. ford, Kv.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last Summer I nad a severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best meucine in (xistence." 25 and 50c bottles for sale by W. B. Mc-Roberts, Druggist, Stanford. Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Tex
